Saved His Job By Capture of Scully

Honolulu Paper Tells About Nakaleka's Reappointment and Other Molokai Matters—Cooke Interviewed.

The Honolulu Advertiser of last Tuesday has an interesting story concerning the recent events on Molokai. It is as follows:

"Molokai, one of the several separate island appendages of the County of Maui, is now in the throes of a political upheaval, due to the coming into office of the new Maui county officials.

"Joel Nakaleka, former member of the house of representatives, who recently alone and unaided, but for a subordinate police officer and an eight-inch-barreled revolver of a bygone age, effected the capture of John T. Scully and his friends, H. L. McCutcheon and Joe Ratta and took the two latter to Lahaina for safe-keeping, has been reappointed deputy sheriff of Molokai. Joel is a power in the land of his jurisdiction. It is said that his splendid work in rounding in Scully and his friends, after he had been notified from Honolulu that these men were on the Lonely Island, contributed greatly towards his reappointment.

"The fight against the retention in office of H. Rex Hitchcock as road supervisor for Molokai has come to an end through the appointment of Edward Devauchelle Sr., as Hitchcock's successor.

"Otherwise, the inhabitants of free Molokai are happy," said George P. Cooke, former member of the house of representatives. "I did not know that Scully had been with us until he was rudely taken away, otherwise we might have gotten up a luau in his honor."

Maui Agricultural Makes Record Crop

The Maui Agricultural is still another Maui plantation to finish its year with a record breaking crop. Grinding was completed last week, and showed a total in sugar harvested of 39,620 tons.

This is the biggest crop ever harvested. The 1914 total was 33,660 tons. The estimate, January 1, 1915, called for a total of 34,000 tons, so that the final yield was 5,620 tons in excess of what was expected six months ago.

Getting Results By Green Manure Crops

Wailuku Sugar Company Burns No Cane Leaves, and Grows Rattle Weed for Cover Crop.

The only irrigated plantation in the territory which does not burn any of its cane trash, but instead plows everything under, is that of the Wailuku Sugar Company, according to Manager H. B. Penhallow. And to this practice Mr. Penhallow believes is due a very marked improvement in the company's fields in the past several years.

Mr. Penhallow is also practicing a system of green manuring which is showing great results, and which he says he has been able to demonstrate is not prohibitive from standpoint of cost. He plants along the irrigation ditches above the cane fields the common wild crotalaria, commonly known as rattle weed or rattle box, a leguminous plant rich in nitrogen fixing bacteria. The seed from this plant is carried down the ditches in latters in irrigating the cane fields, and following the removal of the crop germinate thickly. Mr. Penhallow has been able to plow under two crops of this weed in one year, which he estimates amounted to at least ten tons of material. This, together with the cane trash left on the ground, adds very greatly to the humus content of the soil, as well as to the nitrogen elements, so necessary and costly to secure.

Hawaii Leads in Important Reform

Act By Last Legislature Simplifies Form of Indictments—Praised By Pennsylvania University.

In the recent act to reform the legal procedure regarding indictments, the legislature of Hawaii has taken a leading position, according to a letter received by Circuit Judge Parsons from Professor Mikell, dean of the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania. The extreme technicality of indictments and the manner in which justice is often defeated by having them set aside on trivial grounds, is one of the matters referred to in a statement by former President Taft, that American criminal procedure was a disgrace to the country. The law department at Pennsylvania has been giving special attention to the matter of reforming this sort of procedure and Judge Parsons has been in correspondence with Professor Mikell for a long time, with the result that he prepared several bills to improve matters, which were presented in the last legislature.

The bill that passed was Act No. 215, relating to Indictments. Judge Parsons sent a copy of the act to the Pennsylvania professor, and has just received a letter acknowledging it and saying: "I am delighted that the Legislature of Hawaii should be the first to take this forward step. The bill has also been introduced into the Legislatures of Illinois and North Carolina, and I understand it is likely to pass."

The act in question was introduced and passed through the House by Representative Norman Lyman. It has the general effect of simplifying the form of indictments, and preventing their being quashed on grounds merely involving quibbles regarding words. It absolutely cuts out all small grounds for quashing indictments, and provides for a form of indictment in which the offense to be alleged is stated in simple terms, and it says that the words and phrases used in an indictment shall be construed according to their usual interpretation.—Hilo Tribune.
